

JOSEF STRANSKY, for the first part of the programme of the exhibition.

OLIVE FREMSTAD REAPPEARS AS BRUNNHILDE IN 'SIGFRIED.'
Olive Fremstad, just recovered from an illness, sang Brunnhilde in "Sigfried" at the Metropolitan Opera House last night, instead of Jonanna Gadski, who is busily rehearsing in "Verdaiske." Mrs. Fremstad's conception of the part is well known. It is illuminated by fine intelligence and striking personality, but it puts some strain upon her voice which her art conceals. She won great favor from a very large, attentive and musically distinguished audience. Carl Burrian, our only Siegfried, was in excellent voice. Putnam Griswold was an

TURN AWAY 3,000
AT WORLD CONCERT

Great Crowd That Gathered at Richmond Hill Unable to Gain Admission.

Triumph to the only word that adequately describes the reception given to the New York City Orchestra at Richmond Hill yesterday.

Several hundred persons had to be turned away from the afternoon concert, and last night an auditorium seating 3,000 people could have been more than filled. Unfortunately the capacity of the High School hall is limited to 800. The doors were opened at 7:15 and only the vanguard of the assembled crowd had gained admittance when they had to be closed nine minutes later.

There were then at least two thou

SOME old-fashioned remedies are so good that they are as up-to-date as the most modern discoveries.

For instance, for a bad cold, there is no remedy that equals a glass of hot whiskey and water with lemon juice squeezed into it, just as you get into bed. Then wrap tight in the blankets and let Nature and perspiration throw the cold off.

Of course, the man who has a cold and keeps taking snips of whiskey all day long, just heating himself up and getting chilled again, isn't curing his cold—he's just trying to drown a "miserable feeling".

The fact that whiskey is bad in the long run for the "miserable feeling", doesn't take away from the fact that taken hot before going to bed, it's one of the best cold cures in the world.

Duffy's

Pure Malt Whiskey

is so free from tannic acid, fusel oil and other adulterants that it benefits the cold, without leaving harmful after-effects.

It's the best whiskey made,—so good that great physicians prescribe it when they prescribe alcohol.

Thomas Marston, galeman at the Union street railroad crossing in Hackett, N. J., is not a weather prophet, but he wants it known that yesterday he saw the first bluebird of the season. That, Marston avers, is an indication of an early spring.

Eimer L. Bergen, a real estate operator of Jamaica, L. I., asserts he heard and saw a robin in that town yesterday afternoon.
